OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Market Review. Asian equities experienced a volatile start as the optimism from trade deal was overshadowed by the outbreak of coronavirus. Since China alerted to the World Health Organization on the several cases in Wuhan in late December, the number of confirmed cases rose to over 11,000 throughout the country by the end of the month. Cities and factories were subsequently lock downed while other countries started to issue various travel restrictions to/ from China. All Asian markets fell with the exception of Australia. Given the outbreak and their connection with China, Hong Kong underperformed due to drop in tourists arrival and consumer sentiment while Taiwan lagged on concerns over supply chain disruptions in technology. Korea fell for similar reasons. Philippines underperformed as it was impacted by volcano eruption and politically driven uncertainties around regulated assets. Thailand was the hardest hit market as the economy is heavily linked to tourism. Overall, growth outperformed value this month.

Fund Performance. The Fund underperformed the benchmark. On the positive side, exposures in REITs contributed the most. Against a risk-off environment, the US 10-year treasury yield fell from 1.9% to 1.5% in a month, thereby helping bond proxies in Australia. On the negative side, the value/ cyclical exposures hurt. In addition, the outbreak of corona virus will negatively impact jet fuel and diesel demand.

Fund Strategy. For most of 2019, Asian markets were caught in a tug-of-war between tariffs and supportive central bank policy. After the Phase One trade deal was confirmed, green shoots of economic recovery began to show. However, the outbreak of corona virus has replaced the uncertainty that tariffs posed for markets and creates a cyclical pothole in what was looking like an extended business cycle.

With the uncertain macro backdrop, we maintain a balanced positioning with defensives and quality franchises providing downside protection and value cyclicals offering upside participation. A broader spread of holdings and a combination of low beta, value and growth-at-reasonable-yield characteristics should also allow us to better navigate different environments.
