OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Market Review. The BPI Government Bond Index fell by 4.00% in September as yields jumped by 99.03 basis points on average. Peso-denominated government bonds were much less actively traded this month compared to August, averaging just Php5.49 billion per day. Trades were mostly observed on the shorter end of the yield curve such as various Treasury Bills, FXTN 10-48 and RTB 3-8.

Both FXTN auctions scheduled for the month were met with poor demand, given investors' preference for relatively shorter-tenored securities. The first auction, a re-issuance of the 10-year FXTN 10-63 (coupon of 6.250%), was fully rejected. Had the bids been awarded, the average yield on the paper would have gone up to 7.64%, 129 basis points higher than its prior auction at 6.35%. The auction was also undersubscribed with total bids at just Php12.7 billion compared to the Php15 billion offer. The second auction, a reissuance of the 7-year FXTN 7-61 (coupon of 5.75%), was partially awarded at an average yield of 7.085% compared to the 5.976% average it was awarded at last June. Bids amounted to Php13.88 billion, lower than the BTr's Php15 billion offer.

Inflation for the month of August surged to a 9-year high of 6.4%, much higher than the 5.7% posted in July. The increase in prices was largely attributable to food and non-alcoholic beverages. Elevated global oil prices likewise drove transport and power prices higher. The BSP Monetary Board meeting held towards month-end concluded with a 50 basis point interest rate hike as expected by the market. This marked the fourth consecutive tightening move amid rising local inflation and a weaker currency. The central bank likewise noted that 2019 inflation could be at risk of breaching the 2-4% targeted range. Monetary authorities will continue to vigilantly monitor economic data so as to determine the appropriate monetary policy response moving forward.

Fund Performance. The Fund underperformed its benchmark by 124 bps in September.

Fund Strategy. The Fund will continue to invest in a diversified mix of securities primarily issued by Philippine corporations.
