OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Market Review. The JP Morgan Asia Credit Index (JACI) Philippines returned 3.73% in April as Philippine dollar-denominated bond yields fell by an average of 34.0 basis points (bps) across the curve. Record-low developed market bond yields at the start of the month may have contributed to a partial reversal of the outflows from emerging market dollar debt observed in March.

Global markets rallied in April due to significant fiscal and monetary stimulus announcements, with governments responding to deteriorating economic data as the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic continue. Some countries, particularly in Europe and Asia, started to relax business restrictions as daily infection rates started to fall. Market volatility was less extreme than it had been in March, and central bank assurances kept yields low despite the rally in riskier assets. While the US Federal Reserve kept its policy rate unchanged, it vowed to be "forceful, proactive, and aggressive" in combating the economic effects of the pandemic. 10-year US Treasury yields closed the month at 0.64%, slightly lower than their levels at the end of March.

On the local front, the Philippine government issued two tranches of dollar-denominated debt: USD1bn-worth of 10-year debt with a coupon of 2.457% and USD1.35bn-worth of 25-year debt with a coupon of 2.95%, the lowest coupons ever set for issuances of these tenors. Tenders for both issuances exceeded USD4.5bn each, reflecting strong demand. In the local economic space, inflation for the month of March averaged 2.5% year-on-year, slowing from February's 2.6% figure. However, risk sentiment continued to be dampened by the escalation of the global COVID-19 pandemic, with a number of significant downgrades to Philippine GDP forecasts after a 4-week extension of the country's enhanced community quarantine to mid-May. Amid continued economic uncertainty and falling inflation, the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) enacted an off-cycle cut of its benchmark policy rate by 50 bps, bringing its year-to-date policy rate easing to 125 bps. Toward the end of the month, BSP Governor Benjamin Diokno suggested that a pause to policy rate easing might be appropriate, but that monetary stimulus in other forms would be likely, given expectations for disinflation and lower economic growth.

Fund Performance. The Fund rose by 0.14% in April, ahead of its benchmark by 13 basis points.

Fund Strategy. The fund will maintain its duration of less than 1 and will continuously look into corporate bonds for yield enhancement.
