The Fund was approved to be converted to a U.S. Dollar-denominated money market fund last March 6, 2015. * It has likewise been renamed to the BPI U.S. Dollar Short Term Fund last June 1, 2015.

CLIENT SUITABILITY

A client profiling process shall be performed prior to participating in the Fund to guide the prospective investor if the Fund is suited to his/her investment objectives and risk tolerance. Clients are advised to read the Declaration of Trust / Plan Rules of the Fund, which may be obtained from the Trustee, before deciding to invest.

The BPI Invest U.S. Dollar Short Term Fund is suitable only for investors who:

- Are at least classified as moderately conservative based on their risk profile.
- Have an investment horizon of up to one (1) year.

KEY RISKS AND RISK MANAGEMENT

You should not invest in this Fund if you do not understand or are not comfortable with the accompanying risks.

Interest Rate Risk: The fund invests in short term foreign currency denominated fixed income securities, exposing investors to the risk of loss arising from a rise in interest rates, which generally causes fixed income security prices to decline. Factors/ events that may lead to a rise interest rates include adverse market conditions, issuer-specific factors/ events and/ or negative developments in political and economic conditions of countries where the securities are issued/ traded.

Liquidity Risk: Investors are exposed to the risk of loss due to the fund's inability to convert security holdings to cash immediately or in instances where conversion to cash is possible but at a highly disadvantageous price due to limited buyers/ sellers in the market, low trading volumes or market disruptions, among other reasons/ factors.

Related Party Risk: Investors are exposed to actual or potential conflicts of interest in the handling of related party transactions by the Trustee, specifically, time deposit placements with the Trustee's own bank and/ or its subsidiary, purchase of debt securities issued by related parties, as well as the execution of trade transactions with related counterparties.

Credit/ Default Risk: Investors are exposed to the risk of loss due to the failure of the borrower/ debt issuer to make timely interest and/ or principal payments on its deposit liabilities, loans, bonds or other debt instruments due to a deterioration in the borrower's/ issuer's financial condition or external factors and events that may affect its ability to repay financial obligations such as negative developments in its home country's political and economic conditions.

Forex Risk: Investors are exposed to the risk of loss from a decline in fund value when the market value of foreign currency denominated fixed income securities held by the fund are converted/ translated to US Dollar.

In accordance with the provisions in the Declaration of Trust, the Fund employs a risk management policy based on duration. The Fund may also use financial derivatives to hedge the portfolio against market and credit risks

OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Market Review. The JP Morgan Asia Credit Index (JACI) Philippines returned 1.81% in January, as the Philippine dollar-denominated bond yield curve made a parallel shift downward due to risk-off sentiment. On average, Philippine dollar-denominated bond yields fell 23.5 basis points.

Risk appetites were strong at the start of January due to the signing of a phase one trade deal between the US and China, a slight upturn in global economic data, and signs of continued generally accommodative monetary policy across major regions. However, sentiment turned negative toward the end of the month as concerns about the coronavirus outbreak and its effect on Chinese and global economic growth became the market focus, catalyzing a rotation into safe-haven assets and fueling speculation of increased monetary policy easing and potential fiscal stimulus in the near future. Despite no policy action or major changes to the US Federal Reserve outlook, the market began pricing in a higher chance of a policy move lower within the year, driving US Treasury yields lower. US government bonds returned 2.4% over the month, with the US 10-year benchmark yield closing out the month of January at 1.51%, 37 basis points lower than its peak at the start of the month.

In the local space, inflation for the month of December came in slightly ahead of market expectations, rising 2.9% year-on-year (vs. market expectations of 2.6%). The uptick was mainly driven by an increase in food prices, specifically fish, as well as an increase in fuel costs which rose faster than expected. While it is still within the BSP's targeted range of 2-4% for the year, inflation may see upward pressure from supply side issues emanating from the Coronavirus crisis. Central Bank Chief Benjamin Diokno came out at month-end stating that a 50bps policy rate cut for the year was still on the table, though the BSP will continue to monitor economic releases so as to assess the appropriate monetary policy response needed.

Fund Performance. The Fund rose by 0.15% in January, in-line with the benchmark.

Fund Strategy. The fund will maintain its duration of less than 1 and will continuously look into corporate bonds for yield enhancement.

LIST OF PROSPECTIVE INVESTMENTS

The following are among the Fund's approved investment outlets, wherein the Trustee intends to invest depending on strategy, availability, or other market-driven circumstances:

- (a) Primarily short-term tradable fixed-income instruments issued or guaranteed by the Philippine government or the BSP; tradable securities issued by the government of a foreign country, any political subdivision/agency of a foreign country or any supranational entity; tradable fixed-income instruments issued by foreign or local financial institutions or private corporations; exchange-listed securities; marketable instruments that are traded in an organized exchange; loans traded in an organized market; and, such other tradable investments outlets/ categories as the BSP may allow.
