- Have an investment horizon of more than five (5) years

KEY RISKS AND RISK MANAGEMENT

You should not invest in this Fund if you do not understand or are not comfortable with the accompanying risks.

Interest Rate Risk: The fund invests in a portfolio of Philippine Sovereign and corporate securities comprising the JP Morgan Asia Credit Philippines Total Return Index, exposing investors to the risk of loss arising from a rise in interest rates, which generally causes fixed income security prices to decline. Factors/ events that may lead to a rise interest rates include adverse market conditions, issuer-specific factors/ events and/ or negative developments in domestic and global political and economic conditions.

Liquidity Risk: Investors are exposed to the risk of loss due to the fund's inability to convert security holdings to cash immediately or in instances where conversion to cash is possible but at a highly disadvantageous price due to limited buyers/ sellers in the market, low trading volumes or market disruptions, among other reasons/ factors.

Related Party Risk: Investors are exposed to actual or potential conflicts of interest in the handling of related party transactions by the Trustee, specifically, the execution of trade transactions with related counterparties.

Credit/Default Risk: Investors are exposed to the risk of loss due to the failure of the borrower/ debt issuer to make timely interest and/ or principal payments on its deposit liabilities, loans, bonds or other debt instruments due to a deterioration in the borrower's/ issuer's financial condition or external factors and events that may affect its ability to repay financial obligations such as negative developments in domestic and global political and economic conditions.

Index Tracking Risk: Investors are exposed to the risk of not being able to achieve a level of return that matches the index being tracked by the fund due primarily to operating and fund management expenses.

OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Market Review. The JP Morgan Asia Credit Index (JACI) Philippines returned 1.08% in December as Philippine dollar-denominated bonds remained resilient despite the losses in US Treasuries.

US Treasury Yield curve bear flattened as the short end rose more than the long end of the curve. The emergence of the highly transmissible Omicron variant has driven market volatility and has begun to take its toll on global growth. However, markets recovered quickly as data from UK and South Africa indicated a lower risk of severe illness from the variant. US economic data figures for November were mixed with strong headline Consumer Price Index (CPI) printing at +6.8% year-on-year, its highest reading in 39 years while US non-farm payrolls came in 340,000 lower than expected at 210,000. During the last FOMC meeting of the year, the Federal Reserve (FED) adopted a more hawkish stance given the rapid tightening of the labor market and persistent inflationary pressures. The FED announced its plans to double the pace of tapering from $15 billion to $30 billion per month starting January next year while maintaining the Federal Funds target rate at 0% - 0.25%. The FED officials also updated the dot plot showing three rate hike expectations for 2022 based on median projections.

In the local economic space, November inflation further eased to 4.2% year-on-year, with slower food inflation offset by higher utility and transportation costs. Food inflation slowed down due to improved harvest and favorable weather conditions. Meanwhile, elevated global crude oil prices has led to increased electricity bills and steeper diesel prices, keeping the inflation print above the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) target range of 2% to 4%. The BSP kept the policy rate at its record 2% low during the last meeting for 2021. Moreover, the central bank raised its inflation forecast of 4.4% and 3.4% for 2021 and 2022, listing the lingering supply constraints on key food items and transport hike petitions as upside risks.

Fund Performance. The fund returned 0.99% in December, underperforming its benchmark by 15 bps. Year-to-date, it underperformed the benchmark by 32 basis points with a return of 0.26%.

Fund Strategy. The Fund will continue to closely track the JPMorgan Asia Credit Total Return Index. Investors in a bond fund must be prepared to withstand volatility as higher investment value is typically achieved over the medium to long term.
