The BPI Invest Philippine Dollar Bond Index Fund is suitable only for investors who:

- Are at least classified as aggressive based on their risk profile
- Have an investment horizon of more than five (5) years

KEY RISKS AND RISK MANAGEMENT

You should not invest in this Fund if you do not understand or are not comfortable with the accompanying risks.

Interest Rate Risk:	The fund invests in a portfolio of Philippine Sovereign and corporate securities comprising the JP Morgan Asia Credit Philippines Total Return Index, exposing investors to the risk of loss arising from a rise in interest rates, which generally causes fixed income security prices to decline. Factors/ events that may lead to a rise interest rates include adverse market conditions, issuer-specific factors/ events and/ or negative developments in domestic and global political and economic conditions.
Liquidity Risk:	Investors are exposed to the risk of loss due to the fund's inability to convert security holdings to cash immediately or in instances where conversion to cash is possible but at a highly disadvantageous price due to limited buyers/ sellers in the market, low trading volumes or market disruptions, among other reasons/ factors.
Related Party Risk:	Investors are exposed to actual or potential conflicts of interest in the handling of related party transactions by the Trustee, specifically, the execution of trade transactions with related counterparties.
Credit/Default Risk:	Investors are exposed to the risk of loss due to the failure of the borrower/ debt issuer to make timely interest and/ or principal payments on its deposit liabilities, loans, bonds or other debt instruments due to a deterioration in the borrower's/ issuer's financial condition or external factors and events that may affect its ability to repay financial obligations such as negative developments in domestic and global political and economic conditions.
Index Tracking Risk:	Investors are exposed to the risk of not being able to achieve a level of return that matches the index being tracked by the fund due primarily to operating and fund management expenses.

OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Market Review. The JP Morgan Asia Credit Index (JACI) Philippines lost 2.80% in January as Philippine dollar-denominated bonds tracked the sell-off in US Treasuries.

Global bonds sold off during the month as market players continued to price in more rate hikes—now totaling five within the year— from the US Federal Reserve. Economic data coming from the world's largest economy remained to be a mixed bag, with the US flash manufacturing Purchasing Managers' Index (PMI) rising sharply early during the month, while the services PMI fell sharply from the December figure. This indicated slowing economic activity as movements were limited by the highly contagious Omicron variant of the coronavirus (COVID 19). US inflation came in at 7%YoY in December, marking the highest level since 1982 as price pressures increased broadly across goods and services while wage growth remained strong as the country reported close to full employment levels. In other parts of the world, the pandemic continued to hamper economic recovery as China's GDP growth slowed further to just 4.0% YoY in the final quarter of 2021. Overall, investors remained wary of the Fed's hawkish commentary, especially following its first monetary policy meeting concluded in the last week of January. The benchmark 10-year US Treasury yield rose 26.66 basis points to close the month at the 1.78% level.

In the local economic space, December inflation further eased to 3.6% year-on-year, with slower food inflation as well as a more muted rise in utility and transportation costs. This marked the lowest monthly inflation rate for the year, which was also finally within the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) target range of 2% to 4%. Food inflation slowed down due to improved harvest and favorable weather conditions. The BSP has consistently affirmed that there is enough room to keep its accommodative policy stance, and that it would monitor economic data to adjust rates as needed.

Fund Performance. The fund returned -2.79% in January, underperforming its benchmark by 285 bps.

Fund Strategy. The Fund will continue to closely track the JPMorgan Asia Credit Total Return Index. Investors in a bond fund must be prepared to withstand volatility as higher investment value is typically achieved over the medium to long term.
