OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Market Review. The BPI Government Bond Index marginally rose by 0.16% in May as yields fell by 13 basis points on average. Compared to the month of April, peso-denominated government bonds were more actively traded as average daily volume trade rose to Php9.01 billion. Trades were mostly seen on various Treasury Bills, the 5-year RTB5-11 and the recently-issued FXTN 5-75.

The Bureau of the Treasury only held three auctions during the month instead of the initially announced four in order to give way to its new 3-year Retail Treasury Bond (RTB) issuance, which was priced on May 30. Only the first auction of the month, a reissuance of the 3-year FXTN3-23, was fully awarded at an average yield of 4.703%. Meanwhile, the succeeding auctions of 7- and 10-year papers (reissuances of FXTN7-61 and FXTN10-63, respectively) were only partially awarded with average yields of 5.865% and 6.350%, respectively.

The RTB3-9, which marks the first RTB issuance for the year, was priced on May 30 at a coupon rate of 4.875%, more or less at the median of consensus expectations. The initial issue size was Php66 billion, with the public offer period scheduled to end on June 8, 2018. Issue date would be on June 13, 2018.

Inflation for the month of April came in at 4.5% (using 2012 as the base year), higher than the figure posted in March. The increase in consumer prices continued to be driven by strong domestic demand, which brought about rising costs in food, drinks and tobacco. Meanwhile, the country's GDP growth for 1Q18 came in at 6.8% YoY, boosted by government spending (+12.5% YoY) and investments (+8.3% YoY). Despite the strong growth figure, public concerns on rising inflationary pressures persisted. Consequently, during its Monetary Board meeting for the month, the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas raised its policy rates by 25 basis points to 3.25%. The central bank continued to assure investors that they would vigilantly monitor economic data so as to determine the appropriate monetary policy response moving forward.

Fund Performance. The Fund advanced 0.14% in May, underperforming the benchmark by 2 bps.

Fund Strategy. The Fund looks to reduce its duration position given expectations of rising interest rates moving forward. Volatility may persist in the global space, and the portfolio will be actively managed to take advantage of this. Investors in a bond fund must be prepared to withstand volatility as higher investment value is typically achieved over the medium to long term.
