OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Market Review. The BPI Government Bond Index returned 0.38% in December. Yields experienced mixed movements as the short-end and long-end of the curve fell while the belly of the curve rose. Compared to the month of November, peso-denominated government bonds were more actively traded with an average daily volume of Php7.23 Bn. Trades were mostly seen on the shorter tenors such as the 5-year RTB 5-11, 1-month FXTN 10-45, and 3-year RTB 3-8.

The Bureau of the Treasury (BTr) held two FXTN auctions in December. The first auction, which was a re-issuance of the 7-year FXTN 10-59, saw weak demand as the government rejected all Php4.39 billion in bids out of the Php20 billion offer. Had the BTr accepted all the bids, yields on the 7-year paper would have risen to 5.009% from its previous auction at 4.39%. The second auction was a re-issuance of a 4-year FXTN 5-74. The auction also saw a lack of interest as the government rejected all Php10.09 billion bids out of the Php20 billion offer. Had the BTr accepted all bids, yields on the 4-year paper would have risen to 4.681%.

The local inflation print slowed to 3.3% YoY in November, after four consecutive months of acceleration since July 2017. The inflation figure, which was well within the BSP's target range of 2% to 4%, was mainly driven by easing prices on food and non-alcoholic beverages. The BTr also announced to their plan to raise Php120 billion in Treasury Bills and Php120 billion in Treasury Bonds for the first quarter of 2018. Offers will total Php20 billion each auction, while tenors of the treasury bonds will be three, five, seven, ten and twenty years.

Fund Performance. The Fund lost 0.35% in December, underperforming the benchmark by 3 bps.

Fund Strategy. The Fund will continue to invest in ABF Philippines Bond Index Fund and the BPI Money Market Fund, to maintain an underweight duration versus the benchmark.
