Fund Manager's Report

The Philippine equities market experienced a volatile month in May with the PSE index hitting a two year high at 3,330 a few days after the country's first automated elections were held. The unofficial results validated what had been widely expected, a landslide victory for Senator Noyonoy Aquino. However, renewed debt concerns in Europe and the bail-out of one of Spain's largest regional banks prompted investors to decrease exposure in the global equities market, with the PSE index shedding as much as 7% during the month. The release of better-than-expected first quarter Gross Domestic Product (+7.3% year-on-year) saw investors return to the market towards the end of the month, paring down the PSEi losses to just 0.5%. For May, foreign inflows was muted with net buying amounting to a measly USD 3Million compared to last month's USD 195Million.

In the near-term, we remain bullish on the local equities market on the back of given the better-than-expected first quarter GDP data, strong OFW remittances, and robust growth in corporate earnings. The continued corporate share buy back programs, most notably Ayala Corporation doubling its buy back to PhP 5Billion, lends further confidence in the market. With these positive catalysts, we expect the PSEi to trade between 3,300 and 3,500 in the coming months. Our sector bias remains towards utilities, property, and select holding firms with earnings growth expectation higher than market average.
