Risk Characteristics

Risk Measures

	Past 12 Months
	Feb 28, 2009	Low	Hi	Average
Duration	1.38	0.54	2.50	1.34
Volatility, Past 360 Days	1.31%	0.85%	1.32%	1.12%
Sharpe Ratio, Past 360 Days	0.69

Duration measures the sensitivity of NAVpu to interest rate movements. As interest rates rise, bond prices fall. The higher the duration, the more NAVpu will fluctuate in relation to changes in interest rates. Volatility measures the fluctuations in NAVpu. The higher the number, the higher the potential gain or loss. Sharpe ratio evaluates reward-to-risk efficiency. The higher the number, the higher the reward per unit of risk.

Risk Disclosure

The Fund is suitable for investors who take medium- to long-term views. As a market-to-market UITF, the Fund's yield, net asset value, and total return may fall as well as rise as a result of interest rate movements and the changes in credit quality of the investments. On redemption of units, an investor may receive an amount less than the original amount of the investment.

Risk Management

In accordance with the provisions in the Declaration of Trust, the Fund implements a risk management policy that applies the principles of Value-at-Risk (VAR). VAR is a measure of the portfolio's maximum potential loss and is computed based on price volatility and market value of the investment portfolio. The Fund's risk management policy prescribes a dynamic volatility band, such that if the volatility of the Fund's investments as reflected in the NAVpu exceeds the volatility band, adjustments are made for the collective interest of the participants. The Fund may also use financial derivatives to hedge the portfolio against market and credit risks.

Fund Manager's Report

Philippine dollar-denominated sovereign bonds showed resilience in February with ROP prices higher by 1.3% and yields lower 58bps month-on-month. ROP spreads to US Treasuries narrowed by an average of 56bps. Investors bought into ROPs ahead of the almost $1 billion ROP09 maturity on March 12. There were some bouts of profit-taking though during the month particularly on supply concerns when Indonesia announced the issuance of $3 billion new 5 and 10-year bonds which fetched yields of 10.5% and 11.75%, respectively, 430bps higher than similar tenor ROPs. Moreover, Vietnam announced that it will likely join the list of new issuers of dollar-denominated bonds this year, its first after 3 years. Meanwhile, US Treasuries continued to post losses with yields higher by 10bps for the month. Supply overhang caused upward pressure on yields as the US government issued a total of $605 billion Treasury bills and notes in February in order to finance its economic stimulus plans. Against this backdrop, the Fund continued to outperform the benchmark US Treasury bill. We are inclined to increase exposure in short to medium tenor ROPs but still remain cautious on global and local developments as well as supply risks.
