Fund Manager's Report

Monthly Commentary

Continued geopolitical tensions in the Middle East and North Africa (MENA) stoked earlier fears on inflation. Apprehension over the possible effects of civil unrest in MENA on the world's already fragile economic recovery emerged as the dominant theme in recent weeks after oil prices broke above USD100 per barrel on the New York Mercantile Exchange (NYMEX). On the local front, a confluence of higher food inflation and an increase in oil pump prices contributed to the 3.6% rise in the Consumer Price Index reported in January. Although within the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas' target range of 3% to 5% for the year, the figure exceeded market expectations.

On a positive note, remittances from overseas Filipino workers reached USD18.8 billion in 2010, 8% higher year-on-year and a new record high. Remittance inflows continued to boost gross international reserves, which amounted to USD63.5 billion in January, the highest on record. These dollar inflows may have likewise lent some support to local bid prices for ROP bonds.

Philippine dollar-denominated bonds continued on its downtrend with prices falling by 0.38 price points and bond yields rising by 4 bps on average. The decline came even as local investors put their dollar proceeds from the ROP-11 maturity to work, and even after Fitch Ratings upgraded its outlook on Indonesia's sovereign rating from stable to positive and brought INDON sovereign bonds closer to achieving investment grade status. Nevertheless, the 5-year Philippine credit default swap spreads narrowed by 1.6 points to the 140.5 level.

Strategy

While the Fund remains bullish on ROPs, we expect more volatility in the short term. Thus, the Fund will invest more in shorter-dated ROPs to reduce duration. The Fund will also take advantage of Philippine corporate bond issuances that are in the pipeline to further diversify its portfolio.

Risk Disclosure

The Fund is suitable for investors who take medium to long-term views. As a marked-to-market UITF, the Fund's yield, net asset value, and total return may fall as well as rise as a result of interest rate movements and the changes in credit quality of the investments. On redemption of units, an investor may receive an amount less than the original amount of the investment.

Risk Management

In accordance with the provisions in the Declaration of Trust, the Fund implements a risk management policy that applies the principles of Value-at-Risk (VAR). VAR is a measure of the portfolio's maximum potential loss and is computed based on price volatility and market value of the investment portfolio. The Fund's risk management policy prescribes a dynamic volatility band, such that if the volatility of the Fund's investments as reflected in the NAVpu exceeds the volatility band, adjustments are made for the collective interest of the participants. The Fund may also use financial derivatives to hedge the portfolio against market and credit risks.
