Risk Characteristics

Risk Measures

	Fund	JACI Phils Total Return
Duration	6.70	6.68
Volatility, Past 360 Days	15.23%	16.05%

Duration measures the sensitivity of NAVpu to interest rate movements. As interest rates rise, bond prices fall. The higher the duration, the more NAVpu will fluctuate in relation to changes in interest rates. Volatility measures the fluctuations in NAVpu. The higher the number, the higher the potential gain or loss.

Risk Disclosure

An index tracker bond fund is suitable for investors who take medium- to long term views and want exposure to Philippine bonds. As a marked-to-market UITF, the Fund's yield, net asset value, and total return may fall as well as rise as a result of interest rate movements and the changes in credit quality of the investments. On redemption of units, an investor may receive an amount less than the original amount of the investment. Liquidity risk also needs to be taken into account.

Fund Manager's Report

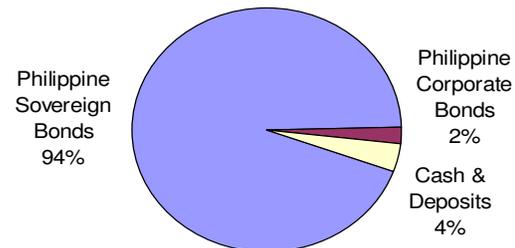

Philippine dollar-denominated bonds showed high volatility in April, closely following the movements of global equities. ROPs benefited from the gradual return of risk appetite in line with the rest of emerging market assets, finding support in local players who continue to favor local credits. However, ROPs were also hit during the month given some US equity weakness as well as the announcement of a wider-than-expected Philippine budget deficit which added to speculation that the government will be borrowing more from the overseas market. For the month, ROP prices slightly improved by 0.1% with yields up by an average of 5bps. In terms of spreads to US Treasuries, ROP spreads tightened by an average of 30bps. Favorable sentiment was likewise reflected in the tightening of ROP credit default swap levels. Five year ROP CDS narrowed 65bps to 288 month-on-month. On the other hand, US Treasury yields rose by an average of 16bps. The US yield curve steepened on concerns about heavy treasury supply in order to finance a widening budget deficit, bank bailouts and fiscal recovery packages.

Against this backdrop, the Fund continued to closely track the returns and duration of the index in April. Moving forward, we expect volatility to persist given market uncertainties as well as supply risks. Investors of the Fund are advised to pursue a long-term investment horizon.
