Fund Manager's Report

The assumption to power of the Aquino administration brought in new hope to investors, allowing Philippine USD-denominated ROPs to soar. Prices increased by 4% on average and by as much as 9% for the longer-dated bonds, while yields fell by 50 bps on average in July. ROP investors likewise took in stride news of the government's plan to increase borrowings by PHP58Bn, with the additional bond supply to be split between local and foreign debt. Announcements from government officials about concerted efforts to increase tax collection and keep this year's fiscal deficit within the PHP325Bn target (equivalent to 3.9% of GDP) painted a more positive picture for the country. Talks with credit rating agencies have also been initiated to have the country's sovereign credit rating upgraded. The five-year ROP CDS spreads narrowed by 28 points to settle at the 145 level at month's end. Overall, investors' appetite for risk continued to grow, as evidenced by last month's rise in global equities.

Against this backdrop, the Fund continued to track the JPMorgan Asia Credit Total Return index. Investors of the Fund are advised to pursue a long-term investment horizon.

Risk Disclosure

An index tracker bond fund is suitable for investors who take medium to long-term views and want exposure to Philippine bonds. As a marked-to-market UITF, the Fund's yield, net asset value, and total return may fall as well as rise as a result of interest rate movements and the changes in credit quality of the investments. On redemption of units, an investor may receive an amount less than the original amount of the investment. Liquidity risk also needs to be taken into account.
