Risk Measures

	Fund	JACI Phils Total Return
Duration	6.74	6.70
Volatility, Past 360 Days	9.47%	9.65%

Duration measures the sensitivity of NAVpu to interest rate movements. As interest rates rise, bond prices fall. The higher the number, the higher the potential gain or loss.

Risk Disclosure

An index tracker bond fund is suitable for investors who take medium to long-term views and want exposure to Philippine bonds. As a marked-to-market UITF, the Fund's yield, net asset value, and total return may fall as well as rise as a result of interest rate movements and the changes in credit quality of the investments. On redemption of units, an investor may receive an amount less than the original amount of the investment. Liquidity risk also needs to be taken into account.

Fund Manager's Report

US dollar-denominated ROPs declined by 0.6% as supply dynamics played a major role on bond prices. The Philippines issued new 25-year dollar-denominated ROPs in the month of October which was well-received by investors worldwide as this was five times oversubscribed. This however exerted some pressure on the existing ROPs of various shorter tenors.

The government's announcement of having accumulated a nine-month shortfall of PHP237.5 Bn as of September, which is already 95% of the government's PHP250 Bn full-year target, also dampened investor sentiment. Local bidders though continue to support ROP prices and strong remittances from overseas workers have also sustained the demand for Philippine dollar-denominated debt. Five year ROP CDS spreads widened although by just 3 points to the 178 level.

Against this backdrop, the Fund continued to closely track the returns and duration of the index in October. Moving forward, we expect some volatility in bond prices to persist given recent market uncertainties. Investors of the Fund are advised to pursue a long-term investment horizon.
